My Fellow Americans,
I want to tell you about my friend Donald J. Trump. I will tell you he is arrogant, conceited, and I don't always agree with what he says. I really did not like when he attacked Georgia Governor Brian Kemp although now, it appears they have made amends. Attaboys! Now let me tell you what I do like about my friend Donald J. Trump:

- He will take us back to being energy independent and we can sell our gas into the world market - weakening the communist economies of Russia, Venezuela, and Iran and strengthening our own.
- He will put in place an operation to stop people from coming into our country illegally. I do not have a problem with people coming to our country but there is a right and legal way to do it, like my ancestors did hundreds of years ago.
- He will build up our military so we are the strongest fighting force in the world once again. Because he is feared or respected, everyone will get back in their own sandbox.
- He will push for law and order in all of America.
- He will bring industry and jobs back to America. Inflation will dissipate and the economy will be strong again.

These are the things that I like about my friend, Donald J. Trump. He and Vance will make a great team in Washington. The things I have written are the guiding lights of the Republican Party and that is why I am asking all Americans to Vote Republican this November and bring back the America we all love!

Save America, Vote Republican

I am Howard Miller, former Vice President and Cashier of the First National Bank in Lake City, Florida and the most deplorable man in Georgia. I paid for this ad.

The most deplorable man in Georgia

by Eric Tiongson
White County News

Howard Miller has held many different titles in his life, such as the President of the White County Lions Club or the Vice President of Regions Bank. But perhaps the one he's most proud of is "the most deplorable man in Georgia."

Miller who lives in Cleveland, was given this nickname by radio host Todd Starnes, which he earned for being an outspoken supporter of Republican candidates such as Donald Trump and Brian Kemp.

"The first time we met, I had my Trump hat on," Miller said. "And so he called me the most deplorable man in Georgia... sometimes when I would call into his radio show he would say "we have Howard Miller from Cleveland, the most deplorable in Georgia on our line. Howard, how are we doing today? "

It's a nickname Miller has come to embrace. Miller is well-known across North Georgia for the political ads he places in newspapers advocating Trump, Kemp and the Republican party. Miller signs each ad "sincerely, the most deplorable man in Georgia."

With the 2024 election now less than a month away, Miller will be placing another ad in papers all across north Georgia, as he's done in every election since 2016. He called this ad "my biggest ad yet" and hopes it will energize people to go out and vote in what he called "the most important election in my lifetime."

People have got to vote," Miller said. "You know, that's the one thing that makes us different from other places in the the world."

Miller first got into politics campaigning for Sen. Herman Talmadge and President Jimmy Carter, who, ironically enough, were both Democrats. He believes both parties have seen a lot of change in his lifetime, and misses the political environment of old.

Miller recalled a debate he witnessed between former Gov. Marvin Griffin and his opponent in the 1962 election, Carl Sanders.

"They came down, shook hands, met people and everything, and then they walked across the square to the drug store for a hamburger or hot dog," Miller said. "It wasn't this fighting with each other, it wasn't this hateful"

Miller believes those days are now long gone, and thinks that the best path forward is to put Republican candidates in office. "I'm afraid the communists have gotten control of the Democratic Party," Miller said. "In order to get back, we've got to get the Republicans in control"

Miller's views are not shared by everyone however, and he has had his fair share of people let him know.

He's received plenty of phone calls, emails and comments from people who don't agree with him. Miller is unfazed, and added that he sometimes gets a kick out of "revving up the Democrats.

" He is, after all, the most deplorable man in Georgia."
